

AT ASBURY PARK.

WHERE HOTELS CLUSTER AND BEAUTY ABOUNDS.

Some of the Attractions Which Make Asbury Park One of the Most Popular Watering Places on the Atlantic Coast.

ASBURY PARK is a paradise for the people. Its inveterate hotels; its surf, the finest on the Atlantic coast; its boardwalk, its photograph galleries, its air of eminent respectability and its sweet girls are attractions which charm a vast multitude.

So quiet. They go there to be lively. Some of them go to dress, but not many. Asbury Park cannot be called a fashionable watering place.

THE LATE E. P. ROE.

Death of the Most Popular Contemporary American Novelist. On a plateau, directly under the shade of the famous mountains on the Hudson river, are the spacious grounds and the rambling, old-fashioned house which was occupied by the late E. P. Roe.

The scenery around about—especially in the direction of the Hudson—is wonderful variety and picturesque. Mr. Roe's father and grandfather resided at Cornwall, and a fourth generation of the family has been identified with this lovely bit of country.

Mr. Roe was fond of entertaining his friends, and he nearly always had grouped around him a coterie of men prominent in the world of letters.

Mr. Roe was a man of somewhat striking appearance. He was of medium height, powerfully built, with a gravelly, pleasant and intelligent face.

Roe was one of the authors who "made money." His income from books was ampler than the income of any other man of letters, obtained from the same source.

The novel, "Barriers Burned Away," was his most successful work. It was published in 1872, and it is said that the demand increases all the time.

The telegraph has kept the public well informed as to the developments in the latest Anarchistic discoveries in Chicago.

There is a choice gang of these gilded toughs that makes its headquarters in certain proscribed resorts, and distinguishes itself by many acts of rowdiness.

The Wrong Side of an Umbrella. Walk speak for the tonic air of the walk. Most of them love the water, and when they bathe they breast the waves with a grace and ease that would do credit to a champion swimmer.

The Actor's Ideal Life. People who prate about the glorious life of art which an actor leads, devoting himself to ideals and to teaching the public how to be good and great, would take a look at the Rialto.

Profit of Health in Statuary. Some years ago I visited the studio of a famous Berlin sculptor. He was modeling a small group representing a lieutenant who has just returned from a reconnoitering expedition.

Height of European Soldiers. It has generally been believed that the reduction in average height of French soldiers which followed Napoleon's wars, due, of course, to the immense slaughter.

Notice to Trespassers and Gunners. All persons are hereby notified to remove their guns and shotguns from the grounds of the Lancaster and Southwestern Railroad.

WOMAN'S WEAK NERVE.

WHY CITY LIFE IS SO TRYING TO THE FAIR SEX. Nerves on the Street, in the Horse Cars and in the Stores—Results of Petting Our Fads—Monsieur and Madame Signs.

In the ladies' parlor of a big dry goods establishment the energies of the attendant were taxed by three women in hysterical tones.

A popular reader, whose mission it is to amuse society, leaped a post from her repertory during the past season because there was nearly always one woman, sometimes several, in her audience whose nerves were affected by the recital.

A woman physician says that one-fourth of the patients on her list this spring have been nervous, hysterical or morbidly sensitive.

It is no indication of nerves that we have been getting our fads, good, bad and indifferent, with a fondness akin to mania for some little time past.

The honna is an important article of an eastern lady's toilet, particularly on festive occasions; it is prepared from the leaves of a medium sized tree and serves to cool the feet of the women and children.

The lady who is about to undergo the drying process is stretched out full length on her back in a room which is kept at a temperature of about 70 degrees.
